

Elegant coffees are on the menu of Sir James in the Marina Mall

The spanking new Marina Mall on the Werfstraat, part of the Mar Azul complex, welcomed their first food shop with the opening of the Sir James House of Coffee on Saturday night. This cozy little coffee place is located on the second level of the mall, offering not only a remarkable selection of gourmet coffees, but also a delightful view of Oranjestad Harbor. James, owner of the shop, and his wife Lizette assisted their three-year-old son Jeremiah in cutting the ribbon marking the official opening.

The shop is devoted to lovers of coffee, plus exotic gourmet teas such as Chai and Yerba Mate. Hot or iced, manager Indra Stemper is ready to serve an elegant beverage, made from fresh ground beans imported from Costa Rica, Hawaii, Colombia, or try Jamaican Blue Mountain Roast, known for his mild flavor without bitterness.

However you like your coffee, you will enjoy the outside area with its stunning view, and a great place to sip an iced Mocha Frappaccino after a hot afternoon of shopping. An after dinner Sir James' Irish Coffee makes a wonderful alternative to desert, or indulge in one of the homemade sweet treats offered by Chef Kelly. A nice selection of reasonably priced sandwiches also makes it a charming place to take a lunch break, with a side dish of wonderful ambiance.

Hot or cold, strong espresso or sweet Iced Caramel Latte topped with whip cream, Sir James has your choice of coffee with extras, and makes an enchanting addition to the increasing number of shops opening in the Marina Mall. Mar Azul Project Manager Fernando Schouten was on hand for the opening and revealed that ten more shops will open over the next few weeks, and the complex will eventually house eight restaurants. The mall will be open six days from nine to nine, and on Sundays from 10:00 AM to 6:00 PM, offering two floors of shopping and entertainment, and if the Sir James House of Coffee is any indication, well worth a visit!
